

East of the Wall. Ressentiment.

Born from the dissolution of the Postman Syndrome, East of the Wall creates elegantly constructed and thought provoking overtures of technicality with their Translation Loss Records debut "Ressentiment"!

What folks are saying about EAST OF THE WALL:

"Those on the prowl for progressive, dynamic post-metal that injects lushness and warmth into technically shrewd and structurally sound compositions will easily find something to bang their brainy heads to" - Alternative Press

"the music crafted here is wiry and flush with layers of depth while still being immediately vibrant and lively...Melodies are tempered into careening metal, slow build-up's reveal moments of beautifully serene clarity and patience dictates a steady pace" - ThePrp.com

"They excel at drawing out that peak-of-a-solo mood and transitioning into something even angrier rather than downshifting...You can't replicate this in your home" - The Silent Ballet

"So many rich sounds swirling around my head. So much emotion and passion with every struck string...It's almost as if the musicians are having a conversation through their instruments" - Ripple Music
