

Nahus Eclipsim

Return to earth, faint and dark illuminating light to grant rebirth, under somber shade of starless night sweeping darkness surge, reveal all within what you hide blood moon converge, reel me in along with your tide

Resonating first breath, like hungered wolves howling into the hollow generate un-death, escape the womb and blindly follow revolution is the flame, answered prayers unto Apollo breathe against the grain, your light is what the night will swallow

Prevail through sacrifice, and stand before the all seeing eyes flawless flame we ignite beyond bleakest pitch, transcendence burning bright

Devoid of Light

S.N.M

Darkness cloak us all with cosmic outer gorge where Orion once stood tall and Sagittarian arrows soar

Twilight engulf us all supreme existence ignored united we shall fall independence unexplored

Lost...here in time perpetually still we are indoctrinated blind in opposition to our will Fading...is the light that never shines aiding...manipulation against our minds

Here below the great watching eyes deception encases the illusion of our lives thy will be done, without the son. where are we to seek meaning in your truth when only fib, fable and fiction is absolute Seng his name, there are no flames

Constitutionally enslaved we would surely drown if it wasn't for the waves look to the sky, open your eyes at what point will we try to break away and turn back from the paths that they have paved we have to see, we are not free

Our Pale Departure

Below the tide we strain to breathe imprisoned selfish suffocating souls salvation screams from high above the trees while our beating hearts beg and plead to fold paling light falls behind approaching clouds hope shatters like ashes in the wind so blind we've become to the burial shroud cautions unheard silently shriek from within

Time is lost and we bear our scars without rise we are fearful of the fall darkness has come to blanket the stars and even mountains vanish behind the squall broken hands exhume unspoiled graves digging deeper for the dust below the dirt here you'll find only bones of once a slave ridden with regrets they are unable to revert

Faded flesh slumbering in the tomb an indication of our inevitable doom echoing voices from beyond the hollow calling us...calling us to follow

Black Autumn, White Spring

Time of light is falling Dark of night is drawing near, transcendental voices calling whispering horror and fear marching forward all alone without vision I can see into the depths of the unknown are the secrets that will set you free

Distant are the stars that shine not only those within our sight but soaring beyond our highest mind internally burning ever more bright levitating into the sky atmospherical breach breathing where no air lies transcending out beyond our reach

Hollow is the heart that beats within the earth death of winter starts and walpurgis brings rebirth

Aries in the moon sign of the horned child spirit, for death will strike soon whisking broad, winged and wild

No dusk without dawn nor creation without doom infinitesimal is the sun eternal is the moon

Devoid of Light was recorded in winter and spring 2015.

Mixed by Mike Beck & Jake Superehi

Mastered by Joel Grind

Cover by Kris Terwimp

Moon Emblem by Kris Terwimp

Photos by Peter Besle

Sigil by Trevor Matthews

Layout by Jake Superehi

UADA

Jake Superehi - Vocals/Guitar

James Sloan - Guitar

Mike Beck - Bass

Trevor Matthews - Drums

Natus Eclipsim • Devoid of Light S.N.M. • Our Pale Departure
Black Autumn, White Spring

